

"FIGHTING BOB" LAFOLLETTE DEAD

Twenty Years Senator From Wisconsin and Independent Candidate For President

PASSES ON AT 1:21 P. M.

Gradual Weakening of Heart Muscles Caused by Bronchial Pneumonia Brings End

(By United Press)

Washington, June 18—Robert Marion La Follette is dead.

"Fighting Bob," for twenty years United States senator from Wisconsin, staunch defender of what he believed was the popular will and independent presidential candidate last year, passed on at his home here at 1:21 p. m. today.

A gradual weakening of the heart muscles, induced by a seige of bronchial asthma, brought the end. He was seventy years old last Sunday. La Follette lapsed into unconsciousness about one-half hour before his death, but just a moment before his spirit took flight he tried to rouse himself.

It seemed to those of his family around his death bed, as if he were trying to say something, or to communicate some last message, or ask for something or someone.

But the effort proved fruitless. Too little strength was left in the body to voice the words.

Robert Marion La Follette of Wisconsin was a symbol to many hundreds of thousands of people of all that was liberal and progressive in American political life.

More than any contribution or definite achievement his aggressive leadership of American liberals and the tradition which gradually grew up about him served to make him the political idol of a large section of the voters of the Middle West.

He attained the political power, for which he strove so long, only late in his career, and then it served rather as a destructive force, for he was forced by his policies to play a game of blockade and counter-blockade. In the Sixty-eighth congress, with the aid of the little band of "radicals," centering about him, he was able to hold the balance of power because of the close alignment between Democrats and Republicans.

Yet all his life was a fierce battle for liberal legislation, which was in no small degree successful.

Naturally, the course marked out by La Follette was bitterly resented by all conservatives, and he was both feared and denounced by both Republicans and Democrats, who preferred the old order. He was attacked as a socialist, even as a communist, both in public and private by the classes he himself assailed.

From the first day when, as a stout, stocky boy of 9 he stood up bravely before the school board of the little town of Primrose, Wis., and told them that he "knew his sis" Continued on Page Two

BIG FOUR MAY PUT ON MOTOR PASSENGER CARS

Gasoline Train Passes Through Rushville Today on Test Run—One Now in Operation

MAY REPLACE ONE TRAIN

The local division of the Big Four railroad is planning to put on motor passenger cars in the near future, to replace two local trains that run from Anderson to North Vernon, an at noon today a test run was made through this city with one of the new cars.

The car is operated by gasoline automobile engine, and resembles a motor bus and street car. At the present time one of the cars is in operation between Greensburg and Columbus, but is not proving satisfactory, according to newspaper reports.

According to plans, the railroad will use the motor car on this division on the morning southbound train and back again in the evening. The other passenger trains are through trains from Louisville, Ky., to Benton Harbor, Mich., and will not be included in the change.

WET WEATHER WILL CONTINUE

Weather Man Makes Indiana State Library Clearing Skies Soon

The rainfall of this week, which has been unusually heavy in the immediate vicinity of Rushville, may continue for a few days, as no definite promise is made from the weather bureau for clearing skies.

Additional thunderstorms early this morning brought more rainfall, and it was accompanied with a display of lightning, but so far as could be learned today, no damage was reported.

The weather report today states that it may be mostly fair tonight, with possibly scattered thunderstorms, and slightly cooler tonight in certain portions.

FIRST DAY'S TOUR INTERESTING ONE

Members of Walker Township Boys' Corn Club Tell How They Cared For Plots

CONTRASTS ARE DRAWN

Sponsors for Boys and Others Interested in Work Invited to go Second Day

The first of the two day excursion to the 21 members of the boys' corn club of Walker township, was held this morning, and considerable interest was taken in the tour, with another schedule arranged to complete the tour in the morning.

The schedule was arranged by Paul Imel, agricultural teacher at Manilla, and he was in charge of the delegation. Rushville business men, sponsors for the boys, were requested to join in the tour in the morning.

The tour this morning was considered worth while by those making it. The point of most interest to club member's fathers was the story told by the boys of how they had cared for the plot up to the present time. In several of the plots, there was a noticeable and interesting contrast drawn by the parents between corn where fertilizer was broadcast, and where it was sown in the row.

The boys and fathers who made the tour this morning, were as follows: Cecil Land, Floyd Kunt, Glenn Winton, Otto Winton, Paul Imel, Curtis Thrall, Kyle Thrall, Dorcie Callahan, Hubert Callahan, Harold Callahan, Delbert Edmondson, Loren Edmondson, Jerry Edmondson, Omer Miller, Leonidas Miller, H. D. VanMatre, Russell Johnson, Wayne Johnson, Marion Krammes and Marshall Krammes.

The second day schedule for Friday morning is as follows, and those interested in the work are urged to attend:

7:30 a. m.—Harry Webster; Wm. Webster.

7:30 a. m.—Mull Webster; Wm. Webster.

7:30 a. m.—Frederick Mull; Don Mull.

8:00 a. m.—Leslie Wissing; John Wissing.

8:30 a. m.—Glenn Winton; Otto Winton.

8:55 a. m.—Voyd Kuntz; Geo. W. Kuntz.

9:20 a. m.—Woodrow Clawson; Howard Clawson.

9:45 a. m.—Cecil Land; Hubert A. Land.

STAR WITNESS GOES ON STAND

"Dr." Charles Faiman, Declares in Testimony That Shepherd Offered Him $100,000

TO FURNISH TYPHOID GERMS

Witness Relates His Experience With Shepherd, Charged With Killing Adopted Child

By EDWARD C. DERR

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Criminal Court, Chicago, June 18—"Dr." Charles C. Faiman, star witness for the state in its effort to prove that William D. Shepherd murdered Billy McClintock, testified today that Shepherd promised him $100,000 for his help in poisoning young McClintock with typhoid germs.

"I told him I thought I should be protected and that if he was going to get Billy's $100,000 estate, I should get a fourth of it,—$25,000," Faiman told the jury which is to decide Shepherd's fate.

"Shepherd laughed and tried to pass it off and so I insisted on $200,000 at least. He laughed some more and we finally agreed on $100,000."

Faiman spoke slowly in low tones, his words barely reaching the jury box. Shepherd, who hotly denies Faiman's entire story sat almost before him and eyed him sharply at important points. At other times Shepherd closed his eyes as though he were tired.

"The next time I saw Shepherd," Faiman continued, "he told me he was guardian of a boy named Billy McClintock."

At mention of Billy's name, the jurors leaned far forward in their seats, anxious to catch each word.

Shepherd appeared wearied of Faiman's story and closed his eyes.

"When things began looking strange to me," Faiman testified, "I told Shepherd that if there was to be anything irregular, I should be protected financially. He said I would be taken care of when he came into his money."

"After several more conversations, Shepherd told me his plans were all laid—that he was going to give the boy typhoid germs in water. I told him that was the safest way."

"I told Shepherd he was lucky to have a wealthy orphan as his ward," said Faiman. "He said, 'Yes, but he's planning to get married and I stand a good chance to lose him.'"

RODENT CONTROL TO BE UNDERTAKEN

Federal Man in Charge in State Coming to Rush County for Demonstrations Next Friday

CAMPAIGN NEXT SPRING

More Complaint Than Usual This Year from Farmers Regarding Damage by Ground Hogs

Two demonstrations in groundhog and rodent control will be held in Rush county next Friday, it was announced today by County Agent H. D. VanMatre, in preparation for a campaign of eradication to be started next spring.

The demonstrations, which will be held in the northern and southern parts of the county, the exact places to be determined, will be in charge of a federal agent, Mr. Oederkirk, who is in charge of the work in Indiana.

Early last spring the county agent requested Dr. J. J. Davis, chief of entomology at Purdue university, to send the federal man to Rush county as soon as possible.

Various things have intervened to prevent the specialist in this work coming sooner. The man who was in charge in the state, Mr. Carr, resigned some time ago and the government has been unable to engage his successor until recently.

The entomology department at Purdue is advocating the control of groundhogs from the first of April to the last of July. The other seasons they are more difficult to reach and furthermore, there may be other animals in the burrows which should be protected.

Mr. VanMatre considers it advisable to have two demonstrations in each end of the county Friday, and then plan for a campaign early next spring, against groundhogs and rodents. Similar campaigns in other counties have proven to be very successful from the financial standpoint.

There seems to be more complaint from farmers this year than common in relation to the damage done by groundhogs, according to the county agent.

There are many chemicals which give off a poisonous gas when they come in contact with the moisture of the air. However, from the standpoint of convenience of handling and cost calcium cyanide is generally recommended.

After the average farmer witnesses one of these demonstrations, he can use this material on his own farm with safety, Mr. VanMatre stated.

In two specially built palnes Rold Amundsen and his companions on this most daring of attempts to explore the region around the north Pole, flew from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, four weeks ago this afternoon.

STEPHENSON BAIL HEARING ADJOURNS

Arguments of Attorneys Will be Heard Friday Morning, With Evidence All Introduced

CORONER LAST WITNESS

Death Bed Statement of Miss Madge Oberholtzer Finally Introduced as Evidence

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—Four hundred knights and ladies of the Ku Klux Klan at a meeting here last night adopted resolutions strenuously opposing release on bail of D. C. Stephenson, one time leader of the Indiana Klan.

(By United Press)

Noblesville, Ind., June 18—The Stephenson bail hearing was adjourned early this afternoon until nine o'clock, tomorrow morning, when arguments will be heard if desired by attorneys.

Defense attorneys completed their evidence shortly before noon in the fight to secure freedom on bail of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, while awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Miss Madge Oberholtzer.

Prosecutor Remy rested for the state a few minutes later. Imman was undecided whether he would ask for arguments on the bail petition.

Paul Robinson, coroner of Marion county, was the last witness called. He identified his verdict which held that Miss Oberholtzer died of poison self administered.

The death statement of Miss Oberholtzer in which she told the details of the midnight train ride from Indianapolis to Hammond, Indiana, with Stephenson, was finally introduced as evidence.

Defense attorneys today suddenly switched their tactics.

Defeated yesterday in attempts to exclude from testimony the stories told state's witnesses by Miss Madge Oberholtzer, the defense abandoned its efforts to draw these stories out and then have them dropped from the records through objections.

In quizzing Miss Beatrice Spratley, trained nurse who attended Miss Oberholtzer, the defense carefully omitted questions as to the condition of Miss Oberholtzer's body when she was brought back from Hammond.

GIVES $500 BOND IN CHILD DESERTION CASE

Wendell P. Gray, Son of Former Judge George Gray of Connersville, Appears in Court

SUIT FOR DIVORCE IS FILED

Wendell P. Gray appeared in court this morning and gave bond for $500 on a charge of child desertion, which has been on file here since October 22, 1924. His father, George Gray, formerly judge of the Fayette circuit court, provided bond.

The defendant in this action was also made defendant Wednesday in a divorce suit filed by Roxie Gray, and among the allegations in her complaint, she charged that he had abandoned her and their child. The affidavit against him was filed last October, but he was never found by officers, and this morning he voluntarily appeared to give bond. The couple formerly lived on a farm south of Glenwood, this county.

Among the new cases filed today is a divorce complaint by Cecil M. Sorrell against Jesse Sorrell, the action charging that the defendant had threatened her on several times, had cursed her, and had failed to provide for her, compelling her to seek employment. They were married September 18, 1922 and separated March 16, 1924, according to the complaint.

They have resided in Rushville and Milroy since their marriage, the action sets out. She also seeks an allowance for support and for attorney fees, and in seeking a divorce she also asks that her former name of Cecil Wilhelm be restored.

Why Thin, Pale Girls Are Unpopular

It is a well-known fact that thin, pale or anemic, poorly developed girls, with dark circles under the eyes, and who always appear tired and listless, do not attract friends. Yet in thousands of cases these conditions are due merely to the lack of pure, red blood, rich in health-giving iron. By simply getting sufficient iron into their blood, these girls may quickly have the blooming cheeks, ruddy lips and well-rounded forms that make other girls so attractive and so popular.

But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not the old-fashioned liquid medicines or pills made from mineral iron that often injured the teeth and disturbed the stomach. Nuxated Iron contains organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it for two weeks and notice the strength you gain. Money back if not improved. At all good druggists.

"He seemed concerned about Billy getting married. He seemed fully worried."

"That was when he told me his plans were definitely laid. I cautioned him to use cold water in giving the germs."

"After Billy got sick, Shepherd came to me in an excited manner and told me the boy was sick. He wanted to know if it was certain he would die."

"I told him to give the boy a cathartic, to make sure. He said he would do so at once."

Previous testimony of other witnesses corroborated this statement. Shepherd gave Billy some castor oil before doctors were called into consultation.

Fauman then told of Shepherd coming to him to get the letter which he had written concerning a course in bacteriology.

"Shepherd said he wanted the letter so that he could destroy it," Fauman testified. "I told him it was unusual to take letters out of my file and so he gave me fifty dollars for it."

The witness was then turned over to Crowe for cross examination and testified that he had not been promised any money by the state for his testimony.

INCOME TAXES ONLY HALF AS LARGE AS 4 YEARS AGO

Summary by Bert M. Thurman, Internal Revenue Collector, Reveals Savings for Taxpayers

REDUCTION OF 52 PER CENT

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—Hoosier taxpayers are digging into their pockets for only half the federal taxes that were paid in 1921.

This was revealed today in a summary of the past four years prepared by Bert M. Thurman, collector of internal revenue.

Taxes collected for the year ending June 30, 1921, amounted to $77,329,292 as compared with $38,160,043 for the year just ending.

The reduction was $39,169,248 or 52 per cent. The number of tax returns has not decreased materially during the four year period but the savings was made due to the removal of rigid war tax measures and the adoption of the new revenue law.

During the four years thirty collectors have been removed from the payroll due to the lightened burden of tax collection, making a savings of $6,000 a month on the cost of operating the Indiana branch of the internal revenue department.

Figures on the amount of income taxes paid in Indiana will not be available for public inspection for some time, according to Thurman, as the records of returns for this year are not yet complete.

Eph Imman, chief defense attorney, questioned Miss Spratley as to treatment given Miss Oberholtzer and brought out that the witness had no personal knowledge of the facts stated in the indictment.

On cross examination Prosecutor Remy succeeded in having Miss Spratley describe in detail the lacerations and bruises on Miss Oberholtzer's face, body and limbs.

Part of the testimony was ruled out when defense attorneys in a body leaped to their feet and objected to some of the statements of Miss Spratley which were carefully couched in medical terms.

Mrs. George Oberholtzer, mother of the dead girl, was saved the ordeal of being questioned at length on the alleged abduction of her daughter and the fight to save her life after she was brought back from Hammond.

She was called to the stand after Miss Spratley had completed her testimony, asked a few perfunctory questions by the defense and excused by the state without cross examination.

Judge Hines' decision as to whether the former Ku Klux Klan leader and his two henchmen are to be admitted to bail while awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Miss Oberholtzer may be delayed, however, by lengthy arguments of the opposing attorneys on legal points involved in the case.

Testimony damaging to the defendants remained on the record in the bail hearing today despite strenuous efforts of defense attorneys to have it swept aside.

Judge Hines overruled eight defense objections to the testimony of Dr. John Kingsbury, physician who attended Miss Oberholtzer during her fight for life after taking poison following the alleged abduction and assault by Stephenson.

Dr. Kingsbury testified that Miss Oberholtzer was in a sane mental condition when she made the death-bed statement accusing Stephenson.

Similar testimony was given by Griffith Dean, attorney who aided in drawing up the statement signed by Miss Oberholtzer.

Dr. Kingsbury also testified that there were serious lacerations and injuries on Miss Oberholtzer's body and that she was in a state of severe shock from the poison when he was first called to attend her.

The injuries and lacerations, Dr. Kingsbury testified Miss Oberholtzer told him, were inflicted by Stephenson during the alleged attack.

Marshall Oberholtzer, brother of the dead girl who submitted to a blood transfusion during her critical illness in a vain effort to save her life, was called to the stand late yesterday.

He testified that his sister told him Stephenson swore at her and called her a fool when he learned she had taken poison in a hotel at Hammond.

go to Crown Point, county seat of her heart and told her he would shoot her unless she consented to session yesterday the mother of Lake county, with him to get married, young Oberholtzer testified his sister told him.

Through the long, nerve racking session yesterday the mother of Miss Oberholtzer, dressed in black, sat at the table of Prosecutor Remy and watched the efforts of the defense attorneys to exclude from the evidence the dying declarations of her daughter and to lure the state's witnesses into damaging admissions and contradictions.

When Dr. Kingsbury told of Miss Oberholtzer's physical condition upon her return from Hammond, the mother wept openly and the father buried his head in his hands.

A large percentage of the audience were women, and among them were some who were obviously devoted adherents of the former klan grand dragon.

"FIGHTING BOB" LAFOLLETTE DEAD

ter could make a good school teacher," and that she deserved the place, his career has been a long, long fight, sometimes bitter, more often joyous in the sheer love of the fray.

He had driven to town, eleven miles, from their little prairie settlement, with this sister. The members of the school board looked her up and down gravely and shook wise old heads and stroked long, gray beards. She was too young and pretty to make a good school teacher, they decided. That was the beginning of "Bobbie's" political career. In a speech which would have done him proud in his later years he convinced the school board that his sister was the one teacher to fill the vacancy.

From his mother, who was of Scotch-Irish descent, he inherited the ever-present twinkle in his eye and his hearty laugh, and from his father, a descendant of those vigorous French-Huguenots, who left France to escape religious persecution, he acquired that tenacious and bulldog determination which has carried him through many a tussle where weaker men would have faltered.

Had the fates conspired to give La Follette the proper kind of background for success in Middle Western politics, they could not have dealt more kindly. Born on Flag Day, 1855, in a log cabin, "Bobbie" was brought up in the strength and vigor of pioneer traditions and pioneer life. Self-educated, he won his way to honors and graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1879. He was admitted to the bar a year later and the same year was elected district attorney of Dane County, after his initial fight against machine politics.

From that day onward every moment of his existence was spent in public life. Not once thereafter was he out of sight of some portion of the public eye.

During the course of his long career Senator La Follette led the fight for the following measures:

- 1—For the direct primary and the direct election of United States Senators.
- 2—For workmen's compensation, general employers' liability, safety appliance acts.
- 3—For regular and higher taxation of railroads in Wisconsin, government valuation of railroads and railroad rate classification.
- 4—For regulation of telephone and telegraph rates.
- 5—For publicity of campaign expenditures.
- 6—Eight-hour law for government and State employees and fixed railroad hours of service.
- 7—For parcel post.
- 8—For Federal inheritance act.
- 9—For protection of women workers; of mothers and children; laws against child labor; for Federal children's bureau.
- 10—Redefinition of trusts; exemption of co-operative farmer and labor organizations from anti-trust law.

Judge Would Do Away With Constable's Office

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—Judge Collins of the Marion county criminal court favors legislative action to abolish the office of constable in Indiana.

"These constables are getting to be a vicious part of our government," Judge Collins said. "There is a decent way to serve a writ without blows or flashing weapons."

The condemnation of the constable system followed testimony of four persons that constables forced their way into an apartment and struck one of the persons with a mace while serving a warrant.

MR. HOUSEHOLDER:

Undoubtedly you have complete coverage against fire, but are your buildings insured against weather?

You pay out good money to keep your buildings insured against fire, and fire is an uncertainty — you are gambling when you pay the premium.

But you can be absolutely certain that rain, wind, snow and the sun are gradually destroying your buildings unless they're protected. Nothing except good paint will protect them against the ravages of the elements.

When you pay insurance you look into the resources and reliability of the company. When you buy paint look into the ingredients that determine its length of service.

You'll find Perfection Paint economical weather insurance. But don't confuse economy with cheapness.

The price per job, and per year, rather than per gallon, is the true measure of economy, and measured by this rule, Perfection Paint is as economical as any paint on the market — economical because it goes farther and lasts longer.

Perfection is a good paint because it's made of exactly the right proportions of good White Lead, good Zinc Oxide, good Drier, good Turpentine, and pure Linseed Oil, the best that money can buy.

We have a paint and varnish for your every need—House (inside and out), Barn, Wagon, Roof, Fences, Auto and Furniture.

Respectfully,

GUNN HAYDON.

Safeguarding Liberty

During the hysteria produced by a bitter political campaign, the people of Oregon two years ago voted in favor of a law prohibiting parents from sending their children to any but public schools. Private schools were entirely eliminated by the measure.

The United States Supreme Court has annulled that law as contrary to every principle of constitutional liberty.

There are many reasons why parents may not want to send their children to public schools. The decision does not affect the power of the state to enforce proper schooling. The state may insist that the academic standards of private schools be the same as those for public schools. It may license teachers and supervise all schools, to assure the maintenance of standards. But it cannot interfere with special instruction of the normal or cultural nature.

This decision illustrates how the United States constitution and the United States Supreme Court guarantee and protect the rights of the American citizen. Hasty legislative action or hysterical decisions at general elections cannot override the ultimate protection afforded every citizen by these two great institutions of American liberty.

Business and Farming

A group of farmers at Owatonna, Minnesota, operating under a cost keeping system put out five years ago by the University of Minnesota experts, have disproved the traditions that farming never pays.

They have found where the farm leaks are, in labor, in buying, in selling, and they have tried to plug every leak. They have paid themselves $80 a month wages, and 5 per cent on their investment. They have increased butter production 20 per cent per cow, and reduced production costs; they have found shorter cut to profits in almost every branch of farming. Their farm income last year averaged $2,471, or better than $200 a month, which is far above the average tradesman or mechanic income.

Last year brought exceptional prices for wheat, corn and a few other products; but much of this Minnesota income was from miscellaneous farming—alfalfa, poultry, dairy products. They had no magic sesame to success; they merely cut out the waste and stuck to the things that paid.

The Nation's Change

Supplying the wealthiest nation in the world with change is a job of tremendous proportions. During 1924 the United States mints struck off $9,394,000 one cent pieces and 28,315,000 nickels. The small change of nation was enlarged by 37,940,000 dimes and 16,892,000 quarters. While a drive was started to popularize the silver dollar only 13,539,000 of the "silver cartwheels" were coined. Singularly, the half-dollar is the most unpopular coin that the United States makes. During 1925 there were just 142,080 half-dollars struck off, and all of these were the commemorative Hugenot-Walloon coins. The mints coined 10,309,500 double eagles.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—A big tariff fight looms in the offing. Present customs rates are a lot too high, in the opinion of some mighty powerful "interests."

These "interests" are not the kind to sit still and make the best of what they don't like. Desiring tariff revision downward they mean to try for it.

Every indication is that they will do this at the next session of Congress.

The protected "interests" on the other hand, will put up a scrap to prevent it that will make the welkin ring to beat all records. In fact, it may be THE big issue in Washington next winter.

CONSIDERING how overwhelming the party of protection won the last election, all this may seem queer.

Yet, stopping to think about it, one recalls that there have been hints for quite a while of something simmering.

For instance, when the cotton spinners, in convention here a few weeks ago, suggested a higher tariff wall, why did President Coolidge shut them up with that Aesop story?—of the dog who, crossing a bridge with a bone in his mouth, saw his reflection in the water, mistook it for another dog, grabbed at the latter's bone and lost his own overboard in doing so.

THEN along came "The Magazine of Wall Street" with the prediction that "within 18 months we shall be in the throes of the most sweeping general revision of the tariff we have ever known."

And now we have George E. Lockwood's "National Republic," which speaks for old-line Republicanism if any publication does, calling for "a thorough campaign of education" to prevent such a "national disaster."

THE revision movement's inspiration is America's group of big bankers—the ones with huge foreign investments, notably war loans.

"Within a year," according to "The Magazine of Wall Street," "the consuming masses will begin to rally to the standard of our international bankers and against the manufacturers."

The outcome remains to be seen. Of course, but one thing is certain, the "interests" referred to by the Wall Street publication aren't to be sneezed at.

If they've set their hearts on tariff reduction, though they may not get it, the ultra-protectionists will know they've been in a first class row by the time it's ended.

THE bankers' idea is easy enough to understand. When President Harding took office and the Republicans had every thing their own way as traditional protectionists their first act was to put the tariff "way up."

There was some talk at the time to the effect that this was going to make it hard for Europe to pay her debts to America—she hadn't the money, and the tariff wall would prevent her from paying in goods.

Still, the manufacturers wanted it, the farmers thought they did and the bankers evidently resolved to give it a trial, without kicking much.

Now, however, clearly they've made up their minds that it's failed.

They've received practically no interest, to say nothing of principal, from any of their old world debtors except England, and lately even the British have begun intimating that they can't keep it up indefinitely on the present basis.

THE tariff, while tremendously important, generally is a dry, tedious, technical subject, but there ought to be some real thrills in a battle over it, with "high finance" on one side, as challenger, and "big business," in the role of titholder, on the other.

Yale Favored to Beat Harvard

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 18—Great rowing crews have become almost an institution at Yale since Ed Leader was brought to New Haven from the University of Washington. Leader was a fine oarsman in college and he was brought up under a great teacher whose system he has improved with his own ideas. He is a great coach and he has the qualities of leadership that Yale seems to be demanding of those in charge of her athletics.

The Yale crew of 1924, which won the Olympic championship for the United States in Paris, was regarded as one of the finest boats that was ever developed in this country. It was comparable only to the great Navy crew which won two intercollegiate championships and the Olympic race at Brussels in 1920.

Another fine Yale crew, rated almost as good as last year's eight, goes on the Thames River at New London tomorrow afternoon against Harvard in their annual race. Yale is a heavy favorite to win the race and Harvard's scant hope is that the Crimson eight is better than the one which was overwhelmed last year.

Harvard has a big game crew and it looked better in its preparatory races than the Harvard crews of the last three years, but it did not look good enough to be rated for more than an outside chance. There are always chances for an upset that could be brought about by the breaks or racing luck, but it would have to be a tremendous reversal.

Seeks Third

for the Yale crew to finish second.

The Yale-Harvard race is always a great spectacle and under fair weather conditions it is perhaps the most colorful event of the entire sport calendar in this country. Rowing is a sport particularly dear to the heart of wealthy alumni and the Yale-Harvard race is almost an annual convention of all the aristocracy in the East and from scattered points all over the country.

The Harvard and Yale crews are entered in the intercollegiate rowing championship which is to be staged Monday on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie. Even if the dates were not so close together it is not likely that Harvard would care to enter the varsity crew and all efforts made in recent years to interest Yale have failed. Yale and Harvard are concerned only in winning their own race and they care little about the intercollegiate championship. Yale is content to let the experts figure what would happen if the Yale crew raced the winner of the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Cambridge, Mass.—Yale cleaned up the annual baseball series with Harvard by winning the second and deciding game, 18 to 4. Yale and Princeton will meet in New York Saturday to decide the "big three" championship.

London—Miss Suzanne Lenglen, former world's tennis champion, arrived here today to play in the British championship next week at Wimbledon. She was drawn in the same round with Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the former California star.

KEEPING ONE EYE ON THE SCOREBOARD

Three runs in the sixth inning blasted Burleigh Grimes out of the box and gave the Pirates an 8 to 5 victory over the Robins.

AMUSEMENTS

"I Want My Man"

How will the future judge of America in its present era of social dissolution which came as a reaction to the anxiety and agitation of the last war?

That is the question evoked by Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon in their latest First National drama, "I Want My Man," which opened last night at the Princess theatre.

Will they see it with the eyes of Sills in his role of Galian Eyre—a man returning after eight years' seclusion in France, during which he was seeking cure from blindness incurred in the war?

To Sills it is a world up-ended, a world of flapper orgies, of teardancing matrons and reckless father. But beneath it all, he sees, there is that soundless of heritage that will emerge above the phase of pleasure-madness that prevails.

As Earl Hudson has produced it, "I Want My Man" is well acted, well directed and well told. It is a drama well worth seeing, with a story of weight and moment. The film was adapted from Struthers Burt's novel, "The Interpreter's House."

"Cornered" At Castle

It has always been the unknown and the mysterious that attract us most. Chinatown, where we have felt that mystic breath of the Orient was for years the center of a great interest which, strange to say, is still present.

In "Cornered," the photoplay at the Castle theatre today and Thursday, you will get a glimpse of old Chinatown in all its sordidness. There is everything reminiscent of the Chinatown of old which we both feared and delighted in, even the "coke" fiend with his nervous, twitching fingers.

It is a story of Mary Brennan, a girl who was brought up in the heart of Chinatown, and deals with her strange resemblance to an heiress. Mary's pals realize there is chance to make some money and succeed in gaining entrance to the house of the heiress for Mary, who poses as the mistress of the house, who is really out of the city. The plans are quite upset when the heiress returns unexpectedly and is accused of being a thief. Then comes the revelation that the girls are twin sisters who have been separated in childhood.

Marie Prevost portrays the dual role of the twin sisters. Others in the cast are Rockliffe Fellows, Raymond Hutton, John Ro-he, Cissy Fitzgerald, Vera Lewis and Wilfred Lucas.

MRS. EDNA BRITTENDALL.

Los Angeles, June 10—Mrs. Edna Brittendall, mother of two children, has been arrested again while masquerading as a man.

A couple of years ago she was found in man's attire, working with a gang of day laborers.

Now she is being held as a check forger. She was neatly dressed in man's clothing, with her hair cut short, when arrested.

"It saves me from being annoyed by other men," she explained. "And I found I could make two or three times as much money dressed as a man."

Jockey Bathing Suit

Hedda Hoyt Talks About Things That Interest The Busy Woman

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)

New York June 18—When Milady rides the wave she's bound to look real cute. If she is Fashion's ardent slave and wears a jockey suit!

The "jockey" bathing suit is the latest thing in Europe. Women who want something different from the one-piece garment or the taffeta bathing suit that is made like a child's frock will appreciate this new addition to Fashion.

Shiny satin is the material used for the jockey suit. The upper portion, which is made exactly like a riding vest, is of contrasting color to the trouser portion. One model for instance, has a white satin waistcoat which extends to the hips, trimmed with mannish revers and pockets. The vest buttons up the front just as the ordinary mannish vest does. The trousers of black satin are made loose and resemble trousers of a track suit. Since the vest is separate from the trousers, the trousers are attached to a snug bodice which is hidden by the vest. A rubberized jockey cap of brilliant color and a buttoniere made of rubberized flowers complete the costume.

Another model made on similar line combines a vest of orchid satin with turquoise satin trousers. Still another model uses a fushia-toned vest with white satin rousers. Fushia shades, by the way, will be among the newer bathing suit colors this season. There are many little taffeta suits with ruffled skirts which are made in fushia shades. Beach capes of purple are also smart this season.

Young People Compelled to Leave Stephenson Hearing

Noblesville, Ind., June 18—Dismay spread among a group of young men and women who attempted to hear testimony at the Stephenson bail hearing yesterday when Judge Hines ordered them from the court room.

They were followed by a few youths who had edged into court. The vacant seats were quickly seized by their elders, who welcomed the court's ruling.

INFLUENCE ON PROHIBITION

Conviction of Dealer Selling Home Brew Apparatus Helpful

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—A far reaching influence on prohibition enforcement in Indiana was seen today by Bert Morgan, federal prohibition director, in the conviction of Otto Pohlar, president of the Indianapolis Extract company, in federal court.

Pohlar was fined $500 and costs for possession of apparatus for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. The apparatus included malt, syrup, barometers, and capping and bottling devices.

Morgan said there are more than thousand, five hundred "malt ade" stores in Indiana and that the prohibition department will enforce to the limit the law relative to persons who supply home brewers and operators of illicit stills with ingredients for their trade.

WOMAN SO ILL WASHED DISHES SITTING DOWN

Mrs. Ashcroft's Remarkable Recovery After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Covington, Ky.—"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework as I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. I sat down most of the time and did what I could do in that way—as washing dishes, etc. One day a book describing Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine was put in my mail-box. I saw how the Vegetable Compound had helped others so I gave it a trial. I had to take about a dozen bottles before I gained my strength but I certainly praise this medicine. Then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood medicine for poor blood. I was cold all the time. I would be so cold I could hardly sit still and in the palms of my hands there would be drops of sweat. I also used the Sanative Wash and I recommend it also. You may publish this letter and I will gladly answer letters from women and advise my neighbors about these medicines."—Mrs. HARRY ASHCROFT, 632 Beech Avenue, Covington, Kentucky.

"FIGHTING BOB" LAFOLLETTE DEAD

Twenty Years Senator From Wisconsin and Independent Candidate For President

PASSES ON AT 1:21 P. M.

Gradual Weakening of Heart Muscles Caused by Bronchial Pneumonia Brings End

(By United Press)

Washington, June 18—Robert Marion La Follette is dead.

"Fighting Bob," for twenty years United States senator from Wisconsin, staunch defender of what he believed was the popular will and independent presidential candidate last year, passed on at his home here at 1:21 p. m. today.

A gradual weakening of the heart muscles, induced by a siege of bronchial asthma, brought the end. He was seventy years old last Sunday. La Follette lapsed into unconsciousness about one-half hour before his death, but just a moment before his spirit took flight he tried to rouse himself.

It seemed to those of his family around his death bed, as if he were trying to say something, or to communicate some last message, or ask for something or someone.

But the effort proved fruitless. Too little strength was left in the body to voice the words.

Robert Marion La Follette of Wisconsin was a symbol to many hundreds of thousands of people of all that was liberal and progressive in American political life.

More than any contribution or definite achievement his aggressive leadership of American liberals and the tradition which gradually grew up about him served to make him the political idol of a large section of the voters of the Middle West.

He attained the political power, for which he strove so long, only late in his career, and then it served rather as a destructive force, for he was forced by his policies to play a game of blockade and counter-blockade. In the Sixty-eighth congress, with the aid of the little band of "radicals," centering about him, he was able to hold the balance of power because of the close alignment between Democrats and Republicans.

Yet all his life was a fierce battle for liberal legislation, which was in no small degree successful.

Naturally, the course marked out by La Follette was bitterly resented by all conservatives, and he was both feared and denounced by both Republicans and Democrats, who preferred the old order. He was attacked as a socialist, even as a communist, both in public and private by the classes he himself assailed.

From the first day when, as a stout, stocky boy of 9 he stood up bravely before the school board of the little town of Primrose, Wis., and told them that he "knew his his-

WET WEATHER WILL CONTINUE

Weather Man Makes Clearing Skies Soon

The rainfall of this week, which has been unusually heavy in the immediate vicinity of Rushville, may continue for a few days, as no definite promise is made from the weather bureau for clearing skies.

The weather report today states that it may be mostly fair tonight, with possibly scattered thunderstorms, and slightly cooler tonight in certain portions.

FIRST DAY'S TOUR INTERESTING ONE

Members of Walker Township Boys' Corn Club Tell How They Cared For Plots

CONTRASTS ARE DRAWN

Sponsors for Boys and Others Interested in Work Invited to go Second Day

The first of the two day excursion to the 21 members of the boys' corn club of Walker township, was held this morning, and considerable interest was taken in the tour, with another schedule arranged to complete the tour in the morning.

The schedule was arranged by Paul Inel, agricultural teacher at Manilla, and he was in charge of the delegation. Rushville business men, sponsors for the boys, were requested to join in the tour in the morning.

The tour this morning was considered worth while by those making it. The point of most interest to club member's fathers was the story told by the boys of how they had cared for the plot up to the present time. In several of the plots, there was a noticeable and interesting contrast drawn by the parents between corn where fertilizer was broadcast, and where it was sown in the row.

The boys and fathers who made the tour this morning, were as follows: Cecil Land, Floyd Kunt, Glenn Winton, Otto Winton, Paul Inel, Curtis Thrall, Kyle Thrall, Dorcie Callahan, Hubert Callahan, Harold Callahan, Delbert Edmondson, Loren Edmondson, Jerry Edmondson, Omer Miller, Leonidas Miller, H. D. VanMatre, Russell Johnson, Wayne Johnson, Marion Krammes and Marshall Krammes.

The second day schedule for Friday morning is as follows, and those interested in the work are urged to attend:

7:30 a. m.—Harry Webster; Wm. Webster.

7:30 a. m.—Mull Webster; Wm. Webster.

7:30 a. m.—Frederick Mull; Don Mull.

8:00 a. m.—Leslie Wissing; John Wissing.

8:30 a. m.—Glenn Winton; Otto Winton.

8:55 a. m.—Voyd Kuntz; Geo. W. Kuntz.

9:20 a. m.—Woodrow Clawson; Howard Clawson.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Criminal Court, Chicago, June 18—"Dr." Charles C. Faiman, star witness for the state in its effort to prove that William D. Shepherd murdered Billy McClintock, testified today that Shepherd promised him $100,000 for his help in poisoning young McClintock with typhoid germs.

"I told him I thought I should be protected and that if he was going to get Billy's $1,000,000 estate, I should get a fourth of it,—$250,000," Faiman told the jury which is to decide Shepherd's fate.

"Shepherd laughed and tried to pass it off and so I insisted on $200,000 at least. He laughed some more and we finally agreed on $100,000."

Faiman spoke slowly in low tones, his words barely reaching the jury box. Shepherd, who hotly denies Faiman's entire story sat almost before him and eyed him sharply at important points. At other times Shepherd closed his eyes as though he were tired.

"The next time I saw Shepherd," Faiman continued, "he told me he was guardian of a boy named Billy McClintock."

At mention of Billy's name, the jurors leaned far forward in their seats, anxious to catch each word.

Shepherd appeared wearied of Faiman's story and closed his eyes. "When things began looking strange to me," Faiman testified, "I told Shepherd that if there was to be anything irregular, I should be protected financially. He said I would be taken care of when he came into his money."

"After several more conversations, Shepherd told me his plans were all laid—that he was going to give the boy typhoid germs in water. I told him that was the safest way."

"I told Shepherd he was lucky to have a wealthy orphan as his ward," said Faiman. "He said, 'Yes, but he's planning to get married and I stand a good chance to lose him.'"

RODENT CONTROL TO BE UNDERTAKEN

Federal Man in Charge in State
Coming to Rush County for Demonstrations Next Friday

CAMPAIGN NEXT SPRING

More Complaint Than Usual This Year from Farmers Regarding Damage by Ground Hogs

Two demonstrations in groundhog and rodent control will be held in Rush county next Friday, it was announced today by County Agent H. D. VanMatre, in preparation for a campaign of eradication to be started next spring.

The demonstrations, which will be held in the northern and southern parts of the county, the exact places to be determined, will be in charge of a federal agent, Mr. Oederkirk, who is in charge of the work in Indiana.

Early last spring the county agent requested Dr. J. J. Davis, chief of entomology at Purdue university, to send the federal man to Rush county as soon as possible.

Various things have intervened to prevent the specialist in this work coming sooner. The man who was in charge in the state, Mr. Carr, resigned some time ago and the government has been unable to engage his successor until recently.

The entomology department at Purdue is advocating the control of groundhogs from the first of April to the last of July. The other seasons they are more difficult to reach and furthermore, there may be other animals in the burrows which should be protected.

Mr. VanMatre considers it advisable to have two demonstrations in each end of the county Friday, and then plan for a campaign early next spring, against groundhogs and rodents. Similar campaigns in other counties have proven to be very successful from the financial standpoint.

There seems to be more complaint from farmers this year than common in relation to the damage done by groundhogs, according to the county agent.

There are many chemicals which give off a poisonous gas when they come in contact with the moisture of the air. However, from the standpoint of convenience of handling and cost calcium cyanide is generally recommended.

After the average farmer witnesses one of these demonstrations, he can use this material on his own farm with safety, Mr. VanMatre stated.

Amundsen and Party Back Safely from Polar Flight

New York, June 18—The North America newspaper alliance today announced through the United Press that word had been received from King's bay, Spitzbergen, that the explorer Roald Amundsen and all his party have returned safely from their polar flight.

Information of the explorer's safety was contained in a message signed by himself and members of his party. In two specially built palaces Roald Amundsen and his companions on this most daring of attempts to explore the region around the north Pole, flew from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, four weeks ago this afternoon.

STEPHENSON BAIL HEARING ADJOURNS

Arguments of Attorneys Will be Heard Friday Morning, With Evidence All Introduced

CORONER LAST WITNESS

Death Bed Statement of Miss Madge
Oberholzer Finally Introduced as Evidence

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—Four hundred knights and ladies of the Ku Klux Klan at a meeting here last night adopted resolutions strenuously opposing release on bail of D. C. Stephenson, one time leader of the Indiana Klan.

(By United Press)

Noblesville, Ind., June 18—The Stephenson bail hearing was adjourned early this afternoon until nine o'clock, tomorrow morning, when arguments will be heard if desired by attorneys.

Defense attorneys completed their evidence shortly before noon in the fight to secure freedom on bail of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, while awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Miss Madge Oberholzer.

Prosecutor Remy rested for the state a few minutes later. Inman was undecided whether he would ask for arguments on the bail petition.

Paul Robinson, coroner of Marion county, was the last witness called. He identified his verdict which held that Miss Oberholzer died of poison self administered.

The death statement of Miss Oberholzer in which she told the details of the midnight train ride from Indianapolis to Hammond, Indiana, with Stephenson, was finally introduced as evidence.

Defense attorneys today suddenly switched their tactics.

Defeated yesterday, in attempts to exclude from testimony the stories told state's witnesses by Miss Madge Oberholzer, the defense abandoned its efforts, to draw these stories out and then have them dropped from the records through objections.

In quizzing Miss Beatrice Spratley, trained nurse who attended Miss Oberholzer, the defense carefully omitted questions as to the condition of Miss Oberholzer's body when she was brought back from Hammond.

Miss Spratley was the first witness at today's session of the hear-

GIVES $500 BOND IN CHILD DESERTION CASE

Wendell P. Gray, Son of Former Judge George Gray of Connersville, Appears in Court

SUIT FOR DIVORCE IS FILED

Wendell P. Gray appeared in court this morning and gave bond for $500 on a charge of child desertion, which has been on file here since October 22, 1924. His father, George Gray, formerly judge of the Fayette circuit court, provided bond.

The defendant in this action was also made defendant Wednesday in a divorce suit filed by Roxie Gray, and among the allegations in her complaint, she charged that he had abandoned her and their child. The affidavit against him was filed last October, but he was never found by officers, and this morning he voluntarily appeared to give bond. The couple formerly lived on a farm south of Glenwood, this county.

Among the new cases filed today is a divorce complaint by Cecil M. Sorrell against Jesse Sorrell, the action charging that the defendant had threatened her on several times, had cursed her, and had failed to provide for her, compelling her to seek employment. They were married September 18, 1922 and separated March 16, 1924, according to the complaint.

They have resided in Rushville and Milroy since their marriage, the action sets out. She also seeks an allowance for support and for attorney fees, and in seeking a divorce she also asks that her former name of Cecil Wilhelm be restored.

Why Thin, Pale Girls Are Unpopular

It is a well-known fact that thin, pale or sallow, poorly-developed girls, with dark circles under the eyes, and who always appear tired and listless, do not attract friends. Yet in thousands of cases these conditions are due merely to the lack of pure, red blood, rich in health-giving iron. By simply getting sufficient iron into their blood, these girls may quickly have the glowing cheeks, ruddy lips and well-rounded forms that make other girls so attractive and so popular.

But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron—Sulzberger's Iron—made from mineral iron that often injures the teeth and distends the stomach. Sulzberger's Iron contains organic iron, like the iron in your own blood. Try it for two weeks and notice the strength you gain. Money back if not improved. At all good druggists.

"He seemed concerned about Billy getting married. He seemed fully worried.

"That was when he told me his plans were definitely laid. I cautioned him to use cold water in giving the germs.

"After Billy got sick, Shepherd came to me in an excited manner and told me the boy was sick. He wanted to know if it was certain he would die.

"I told him to give the boy a cathartic, to make sure. He said he would do so at once."

Previous testimony of other witnesses corroborated this statement. Shepherd gave Billy some castor oil before doctors were called into consultation.

Fainman then told of Shepherd coming to him to get the letter which he had written concerning a course in bacteriology.

"Shepherd said he wanted the letter so that he could destroy it," Fainman testified. "I told him it was unusual to take letters out of my file and so he gave me fifty dollars for it."

The witness was then turned over to Crove for cross examination and testified that he had not been promised any money by the state for his testimony.

INCOME TAXES ONLY HALF AS LARGE AS 4 YEARS AGO

Summary by Bert M. Thurman, Internal Revenue Collector, Reveals Savings for Taxpayers

REDUCTION OF 52 PER CENT

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—Hoosier taxpayers are digging into their pockets for only half the federal taxes that were paid in 1921.

This was revealed today in a summary of the past four years prepared by Bert M. Thurman, collector of internal revenue.

Taxes collected for the year ending June 30, 1921, amounted to $77,329,292 as compared with $38,160,043 for the year just ending.

The reduction was $39,169,248 or 52 per cent. The number of tax returns has not decreased materially during the four year period but the savings was made due to the removal of rigid war tax measures and the adoption of the new revenue law.

During the four years thirty collectors have been removed from the payroll due to the lightened burden of tax collection, making a savings of $6,400 a month on the cost of operating the Indiana branch of the internal revenue department.

Figures on the amount of income taxes paid in Indiana will not be available for public inspection for some time, according to Thurman, as the records of returns for this year are not yet complete.

Eph Inman, chief defense attorney, questioned Miss Spratley as to treatment given Miss Oberholtzer and brought out that the witness had no personal knowledge of the facts stated in the indictment.

On cross examination Prosecutor Remy succeeded in having Miss Spratley describe in detail the lacerations and bruises on Miss Oberholtzer's face, body and limbs.

Part of the testimony was ruled out when defense attorneys in a body leaped to their feet and objected to some of the statements of Miss Spratley which were carefully couched in medical terms.

Mrs. George Oberholtzer, mother of the dead girl, was saved the ordeal of being questioned at length on the alleged abduction of her daughter and the fight to save her life after she was brought back from Hammond.

She was called to the stand after Miss Spratley had completed her testimony, asked a few perfunctory questions by the defense and excused by the state without cross examination.

Judge Hines' decision as to whether the former Ku Klux Klan leader and his two henchmen are to be admitted to bail while awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Miss Oberholtzer may be delayed, however, by lengthy arguments of the opposing attorneys on legal points involved in the case.

Testimony damaging to the defendants remained on the record in the bail hearing today despite strenuous efforts of defense attorneys to have it swept aside.

Judge Hines overruled eight defense objections to the testimony of Dr. John Kingsbury, physician who attended Miss Oberholtzer during her fight for life after taking poison following the alleged abduction and assault by Stephenson.

Dr. Kingsbury testified that Miss Oberholtzer was in a sane mental condition when she made the death-bed statement accusing Stephenson.

Similar testimony was given by Griffith Dean, attorney who aided in drawing up the statement signed by Miss Oberholtzer.

Dr. Kingsbury also testified that there were serious lacerations and injuries on Miss Oberholtzer's body and that she was in a state of severe shock from the poison when he was first called to attend her.

The injuries and lacerations, Dr. Kingsbury testified, Miss Oberholtzer told him, were inflicted by Stephenson during the alleged attack.

Marshall Oberholtzer, brother of the dead girl who submitted to a blood transfusion during her critical illness in a vain effort to save her life, was called to the stand late yesterday.

He testified that his sister told him Stephenson swore at her and called her a fool when he learned she had taken poison in a hotel at Hammond.

go to Crown Point, county seat, of her heart and told her he would shoot her unless she consented to session yesterday the mother of Lake county, with him to get married, young Oberholtzer testified his sister told him:

Through the long, nerve-racking session yesterday the mother of Miss Oberholtzer, dressed in black, sat at the table of Prosecutor Remy and watched the efforts of the defense attorneys to exclude from the evidence the dying declarations of her daughter and to lure the state's witnesses into damaging admissions and contradictions.

When Dr. Kingsbury told of Miss Oberholtzer's physical condition upon her return from Hammond, the mother wept openly and the father buried his head in his hands.

A large percentage of the audience were women, and among them were some who were obviously devoted adherents of the former klan grand dragon.

"FIGHTING BOB" LAFOLLETTE DEAD

ter could make a good school teacher," and that she deserved the place, his career has been a long, long fight, sometimes bitter, more often joyous in the sheer love of the fray.

He had driven to town, eleven miles, from their little prairie settlement, with this sister. The members of the school board looked her up and down gravely and shook wise old heads and stroked long, gray beards. She was too young and pretty to make a good school teacher, they decided. That was the beginning of "Bobbie's" political career. In a speech which would have done him proud in his later years he convinced the school board that his sister was the one teacher to fill the vacancy.

From his mother, who was of Scotch-Irish descent, he inherited the ever-present twinkle in his eye and his hearty laugh, and from his father, a descendant of those vigorous French-Huguenots, who left France to escape religious persecution, he acquired that tenacious and bulldog determination which has carried him through many a tussle where weaker men would have fallen.

Had the fates conspired to give La Follette the proper kind of background for success in Middle Western politics, they could not have dealt more kindly. Born on Flag Day, 1855, in a log cabin, "Bobbie" was brought up in the strength and vigor of pioneer traditions and pioneer life. Self-educated, he won his way to honors and graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1879. He was admitted to the bar a year later and the same year was elected district attorney of Dane County, after his initial fight against machine politics.

From that day onward every moment of his existence was spent in public life. Not once thereafter was he out of sight of some portion of the public eye.

During the course of his long career Senator La Follette led the fight for the following measures:

- 1—For the direct primary and the direct election of United States Senators.
- 2—For workmen's compensation, general employers' liability, safety appliance acts.
- 3—For regular and higher taxation of railroads in Wisconsin, government valuation of railroads and railroad rate classification.
- 4—For regulation of telephone and telegraph rates.
- 5—For publicity of campaign expenditures.
- 6—Eight-hour law for government and State employees and fixed railroad hours of service.
- 7—For parcel post.
- 8—For Federal inheritance act.
- 9—For protection of women workers; of mothers and children; laws against child labor; for Federal children's bureau.
- 10—Redefinition of trusts; exemption of co-operative farmer and labor organizations from anti-trust law.

Judge Would Do Away With Constable's Office

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—Judge Collins of the Marion county criminal court favors legislative action to abolish the office of constable in Indiana.

"These constables are getting to be a vicious part of our government," Judge Collins said. "There is a decent way to serve a writ without blows or flashing weapons."

The condemnation of the constable system followed testimony of four persons that constables forced their way into an apartment and struck one of the persons with a mace while serving a warrant.

MR. HOUSEHOLDER:

Undoubtedly you have complete coverage against fire, but are your buildings insured against weather?

You pay out good money to keep your buildings insured against fire, and fire is an uncertainty — you are gambling when you pay the premium.

But you can be absolutely certain that rain, wind, snow and the sun are gradually destroying your buildings unless they're protected. Nothing except good paint will protect them against the ravages of the elements.

When you pay insurance you look into the resources and reliability of the company. When you buy paint look into the ingredients that determine its length of service.

You'll find Perfection Paint economical weather insurance. But don't confuse economy with cheapness.

The price per job, and per year, rather than per gallon, is the true measure of economy, and measured by this rule, Perfection Paint is as economical as any paint on the market — economical because it goes farther and lasts longer.

Perfection is a good paint because it's made of exactly the right proportions of good White Lead, good Zinc Oxide, good Drier, good Turpentine, and pure Linseed Oil, the best that money can buy.

We have a paint and varnish for your every need—House (inside and out), Barn, Wagon, Roof, Fences, Auto and Furniture.

New Remedy

Dr. Max Thorek, surgeon-in-chief of the American Hospital, Chicago, is credited with a discovery that may do away with the use of the knife in cases of bone infection, and hence save many lives. His remedy consists of applying a wet compress containing a combination of aluminum and potassium nitrate.

It's SO Easy to Clean!

THE White Frost is the only refrigerator built in this convenient round form, with no corners or crevices in which impurities can collect.

Three coats of white enamel, baked on, give it a finish like a china dish. All the interior fittings can be removed and replaced in a jiffy so that the interior can be wiped out with a damp cloth. No other refrigerator has these advantages.

Safeguarding Liberty

During the hysteria produced by a bitter political campaign, the people of Oregon two years ago voted in favor of a law prohibiting parents from sending their children to any, but public schools. Private schools were entirely eliminated by the measure.

The United States Supreme Court has annulled that law as contrary to every principle of constitutional liberty.

There are many reasons why parents may not want to send their children to public schools. The decision does not affect the power of the state to enforce proper schooling. The state may insist that the academic standards of private schools be the same as those for public schools. It may license teachers and supervise all schools, to assure the maintenance of standards. But it cannot interfere with special instruction of the normal or cultural nature.

This decision illustrates how the United States constitution and the United States Supreme Court guarantee and protect the rights of the American citizen. Hasty legislative action or hysterical decisions at general elections cannot override the ultimate protection afforded every citizen by these two great institutions of American liberty.

Business and Farming

A group of farmers at Owatonna, Minnesota, operating under a cost keeping system put out five years ago by the University of Minnesota experts, have disproved the traditions that farming never pays.

They have found where the farm checks are, in labor, in buying, in selling, and they have tried to plug every leak. They have paid themselves $50 a month wages, and 5 per cent on their investment. They have increased butter production 20 per cent per cow, and reduced production costs; they have found shorter cut to profits in almost every branch of farming. Their farm income last year averaged $2,471, or better than $200 a month, which is far above the average tradesman or mechanic income.

Last year brought exceptional prices for wheat, corn and a few other products; but much of this Minnesota income was from miscellaneous farming—alfalfa, poultry, dairy products. They had no magic sesame to success; they merely cut out the waste and stuck to the things that paid.

The Nation's Change

Supplying the wealthiest nation in the world with change is a job of tremendous proportions. During 1924 the United States mints struck off $9,391,000 one cent pieces and 28,315,000 nickels. The small change of nation was enlarged by 37,940,000 dimes and 16,892,000 quarters. While a drive was started to popularize the silver dollar only 13,539,000 of the "silver cartwheels" were coined. Singularly, the half-dollar is the most unpopular coin that the United States makes. During 1925 there were just 142,080 half-dollars struck off, and all of these were the commemorative Huguenot-Walloon coins. The mints coined 10,309,500 double eagles.

Stewart's Washington Letter.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—A big tariff fight looms in the offing. Present customs rates are a lot too high. In the opinion of some mighty powerful "interests."

These "interests" are not the kind to sit still and make the best of what they don't like. Desiring tariff revision downward, they mean to try for it.

Every indication is that they will do this at the next session of Congress.

The protected "interests" on the other hand, will put up a scrap to prevent it that will make the welkin ring to beat all records. In fact, it may be THE big issue in Washington next winter.

CONSIDERING how overwhelmingly the party of protection won the last election, all this may seem queer.

Yet, stopping to think about it, one recalls that there have been hints for quite a while of something simmering.

For instance, when the cotton spinners, in convention here a few weeks ago, suggested a higher tariff wall, why did President Coolidge shut them up with that Aesop story?—of the dog who, crossing a bridge with a bone in his mouth, saw his reflection in the water, mistook it for another dog, grabbed at the latter's bone and lost his own overboard in doing so.

THEN along came "The Magazine of Wall Street" with the prediction that "within six months we shall be in the throes of the most sweeping general revision of the tariff we have ever known."

And now we have George E. Lockwood's "National Republic," which speaks for old-line Republicanism if any publication does, calling for "a thorough campaign of education" to prevent such a "national disaster."

THE revision movement's inspiration is America's group of big bankers—the ones with huge foreign investments, notably war loans.

Within a year, according to "The Magazine of Wall Street," "the consuming masses will begin to rally to the standard of our international bankers and against the manufacturers."

The outcome remains to be seen, of course, but one thing is certain: the "interests" referred to by the Wall Street publication aren't to be sneezed at.

If they've set their hearts on tariff reduction, though, they may not get it. The ultra-protectionists will know they've been in a first-class row by the time it's ended.

THE bankers' idea is, easy enough to understand. When President Harding took office and the Republicans had everything their own way, as traditional protectionists their first act was to put the tariff "way up."

There was some talk at the time to the effect that this was going to make it hard for Europe to pay her debts to America—she hadn't the money and the tariff wall would prevent her from paying in goods.

Still, the manufacturers wanted it, the farmers thought they did and the bankers evidently resolved to give it a trial, without kicking much.

Now, however, clearly they've made up their minds that it's failed.

They've received practically no interest, to say nothing of principal, from any of their old world debtors except England, and lately even the British have begun intimating that they can't keep it up indefinitely on the present basis.

THE tariff, while tremendously important, generally is a dry, technical subject, but there ought to be some real thrills in a battle over it, with "high finance" on one side, "high finance" and "big business" on the other.

Yale Favored to Beat Harvard

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 13—Great rowing crews have become almost an institution at Yale since Ed Leader was brought to New Haven from the University of Washington. Leader was a fine oarsman in college and he was brought up under a great teacher whose system he has improved with his own ideas. He is a great coach and he has the qualities of leadership that Yale seems to be demanding of those in charge of her athletics.

The Yale crew of 1924, which won the Olympic championship for the United States in Paris, was regarded as one of the finest boats that was ever developed in this country. It was comparable only to the great Navy crew which won two intercollegiate championships and the Olympic race at Brussels in 1920.

Another fine Yale crew, rated almost as good as last year's eight, goes on the Thames river at New London tomorrow afternoon against Harvard in their annual race. Yale is a heavy favorite to win the race and Harvard's scant hope is that the Crimson eight is better than the one which was overwhelmed last year.

Harvard has a big game crew and it looked better in its preparatory races than the Harvard crews of the last three years, but it did not look good enough to be rated for more than an outside chance. There are always chances for an upset that could be brought about by the breaks or racing luck, but it would have to be a tremendous reversal.

Seeks Third

for the Yale crew to finish second.

The Yale-Harvard race is always a great spectacle and under fair weather conditions it is perhaps the most colorful event of the entire sport calendar in this country. Rowing is a sport particularly dear to the heart of wealthy alumni and the Yale-Harvard race is almost an annual convention of all the aristocracy in the East and from scattered points all over the country.

The Harvard and Yale crews are entered in the intercollegiate rowing championship which is to be staged Monday on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie. Even if the dates were not so close together it is not likely that Harvard would care to enter the varsity crew and all efforts made in recent years to interest Yale have failed. Yale and Harvard are concerned only in winning their own race and they care little about the intercollegiate championship. Yale is content to let the experts figure what would happen if the Yale crew raced the winner of the Poughkeepsie regatta.

SPORT CHATTER

Chicago—Track and field stars from all parts of the midwest will struggle at Stagg Field here Saturday in the Central A. A. U. championship, held this year under the auspices of the Knight of Columbus. Several members of the United States Olympic team, including Harold Osborne, high jumper, and Howard Fitch, quarter miler, are to compete.

Chicago—Three football wizards, Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Andy Smith of California, and William Spaulding, Minnesota, collaborated in writing a book "Master Plays," which contains many diagrams of trick formations used by the mentors in important games.

Chicago—Sixty entries already are on the lists of the 34th annual yacht race from Chicago to Michigan City, Saturday under the auspices of the Columbia Yacht Club. U. S. sub-chaser, No. 432 will patrol the coast and serve as judges boat.

Chicago—Joe Stetecher will meet either wideboys Frank Judson or Jim Louder June 26 in the feature of a wrestling card of the Chicago Elks at the Coliseum here, promoters announced. Hans Steinko and Stanislas Zay-zko will clash in a preliminary.

New York—Philly Mymans, well known turf operator, who has made and lost a dozen fortunes on the track, was said to have cleaned up $100,000 on the last race at Aqueduct yesterday, when Bill, a 50 to 1 shot, went over. Bill had been started only four times and never had shown a thing.

Cambridge, Mass.—Yale cleaned up the annual baseball series with Harvard by winning the second and deciding game, 18 to 4. Yale and Princeton will meet in New York Saturday to decide the "big three" championship.

London—Miss Suzanne Lenglen, former world's tennis champion, arrived here today to play in the British championship next week at Wimbledon. She was drawn in the same round with Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the former California star.

It's Just Jack

You're right, for this is none other than Jack Dempsey, pugilistic king, developing his lung power on a mammoth horn in a Paris hotel during the recent sojourn of the Dempseys there. Jack found it tough work to get a sound out of the thing, too, according to those in the know.

KEEPING ONE EYE ON THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero—Eddie Roush, Cincinnati's star outfielder, delivered a single on a hit and run play in the first inning and scored Critz with the run that beat the Giants 1 to 0. It was the sixth straight loss for the Giants.

Lou Gehrig's homer was the only run the Yankees could score and the Tigers kicked them all over the lot by a score of 19 to 1. The whole Tiger team batted around twice in the sixth inning and tied the season's record by scoring 13 runs.

Three runs in the sixth inning blasted Barleigh Grimes out of the box and gave the Pirates an 8 to 5 victory over the Robins.

Tom Zackery out-tossed Joe Bush in a pitchers' battle and the Senators downed the Browns, 2 to 1.

Sheriff Blake doubled in the ninth inning and came in with the run that won his own game for the Cubs against the Phillies, 5 to 4.

Slim Harris held the Indians to eight scattered hits and got three hits in five times up, helping the Athletics to win, 10 to 3.

The White Sox split even in a doubleheader with the Red Sox at Boston, 5-3, and 6-7.

AMUSEMENTS

"I Want My Man"

How will the future judge of America in its present era of social dissolution which came as a reaction to the anxiety and agitation of the last war?

That is the question evoked by Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon in their latest First National drama, "I Want My Man," which opened last night at the Princess theatre.

Will they see it with the eyes of Sills in his role of Gullian Eyre—a man returning after eight years' seclusion in France, during which he was seeking cure from blindness incurred in the war?

To Sills it is a world up-ended, a world of flapper orgies, of tea-dancing matrons and reckless father. But beneath it all, he sees, there is that soundless of heritage that will emerge above the phase of pleasure-madness that prevails.

As Earl Hudson has produced it, "I Want My Man" is well acted, well directed and well told. It is a drama well worth seeing, with a story of weight and moment. The film was adapted from Struthers Butts' novel, "The Interpreter's House."

"Cornered" At Castle

It has always been the unknown and the mysterious that attract us most. Chinatown, where we have felt that mystic breath of the Orient was for years the center of a great interest which, strange to say, is still present.

In "Cornered," the photoplay at the Castle theatre today and Thursday, you will get a glimpse of old Chinatown in all its sordidness. There is everything reminiscent of the Chinatown of old which we both feared and delighted in, even the "coke" fiend with his nervous, twitching fingers.

It is a story of Mary Brennan, a girl who was brought up in the heart of Chinatown, and deals with her strange resemblance to an heiress. Mary's pals realize there is chance to make some money and succeed in gaining entrance to the house of the heiress for Mary, who poses as the mistress of the house, who is really out of the city. The plans are quite upset when the heiress returns unexpectedly and is accused of being a thief. Then comes the revelation that the girls are twin sisters who have been separated in childhood.

Marie Prevost portrays the dual role of the twin sisters. Others in the cast are Rockcliffe Fellows, Raymond Hutton, John Roche, Cissy Fitzgerald, Vera Lewis and Wilfred Lucas.

MOTHER

Lived as Man to Avoid Being Annoyed and to Earn More Money

MRS. EDNA BRITTENDALL

Los Angeles, June 10—Mrs. Edna Britten-Dall, mother of two children, has been arrested again while masquerading as a man.

A couple of years ago she was found in man's attire, working with a gang of day laborers.

Now she is being held as a check forger. She was neatly dressed in man's clothing, with her hair cut short, when arrested.

"It saves me from being annoyed by other men," she explained. "And I found I could make two or three times as much money dressed as a man."

Jockey Bathing Suit

Hedda Hoyt Talks About Things That Interest The Busy Woman

By HEDDA HOYT

(Written for United Press)

New York June 18—When Mildred rides the wave she's bound to look real cute. If she is Fashion's ardent slave And wears a jockey suit!

The "jockey" bathing suit is the latest thing in Europe. Women who want something different from the one-piece garment or the taffeta bathing suit that is made like a child's frock will appreciate this new addition to Fashion.

Shiny satin is the material used for the jockey suit. The upper portion, which is made exactly like a riding vest, is of contrasting color to the trouser portion. One model for instance, has a white satin waistcoat which extends to the hips, trimmed with mannish revers and pockets. The vest buttons up the front just as the ordinary mannish vest does. The trousers of black satin are made loose and resemble trousers of a track suit. Since the vest is separate from the trousers, the trousers are attached to a snug bodice which is hidden by the vest. A rubberized jockey cap of brilliant color and a buttoniere made of rubberized flowers complete the costume.

Another model made on similar line combines a vest of orchid satin with turquoise satin trousers. Still another model uses a fuchsia-toned vest with white satin trousers. Fuchsia shades, by the way, will be among the newer bathing suit colors this season. There are many little taffeta suits with ruffled skirts which are made in fuchsia shades. Beach capes of purple are also smart this season.

Young People Compelled to Leave Stephenson Hearing

Noblesville, Ind., June 18—Dismay spread among a group of young men and women who attempted to hear testimony at the Stephenson bail hearing yesterday when Judge Hines ordered them from the court room.

The judge held that the testimony was such that minors should not hear it. There was a flurry as several girls' home from college got up and left the room.

They were followed by a few youths who had edged into court. The vacant seats were quickly seized by their elders, who welcomed the court's ruling.

INFLUENCE ON PROHIBITION

Conviction of Dealer Selling Home Brew Apparatus Helpful

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18—A far reaching influence on prohibition enforcement in Indiana was seen today by Bert Morgan, federal prohibition director, in the conviction of Otto Pohlar, president of the Indianapolis Extract company, in federal court.

Pohlar was fined $500 and costs for possession of apparatus for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. The apparatus included malt, syrup, barometers, and capping and bottling devices.

Morgan said there are more than thousand, five hundred "malt ade" stores in Indiana and that the prohibition department will enforce to the limit the law relative to persons who supply home brewers and operators of illicit stills with ingredients for their trade.

WOMAN SO ILL WASHED DISHES SITTING DOWN

Mrs. Ashcroft's Remarkable Recovery After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Covington, Ky.—"I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my housework as I could not stand because of the bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen. I sat down most of the time and did what I could do in that way—as washing dishes, etc. One day a book describing Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine was put in my mail box. I saw how the Vegetable Compound had helped others so I gave it a trial. I had to take about a dozen bottles before I gained my strength but I certainly praise this medicine. Then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier for poor blood. I was cold all the time. I would be so cold I could hardly sit still and in the palms of my hands there would be drops of sweat. I also used the Sanative Wash and I recommend it also. You may publish this letter and I will gladly answer letters from women and advise my neighbors about these medicines." —Mrs. HARRY ASHCROFT, 632 Beech Avenue, Covington, Kentucky.

Skinney Men

Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Get Your Money Back

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins that make flesh, create appetite, builds up the power to resist disease and puts good solid flesh on skinny men and women.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it, for doctors are prescribing and people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which Pittman and Wilson and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days, your druggists will gladly refund the purchase price.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

Most of the victims were German excursionists from Chicago, Ill., on their way to sail from New York to Berlin. Here is a comprehensive view of the wreck. THE KELVIN-ET

$250 f. o. b. Detroit

The Kelvin-et is a compact refrigerating unit for small homes and apartments, priced at $250 f. o. b. Detroit. It is Kelvinator and refrigerator, all in one. It is delivered to your home like an ordinary refrigerator, and requires only an electric connection. The Kelvin-et is ideal for the small family.

FITS ANY REFRIGERATOR

Kelvinator can be installed in any good refrigerator. It requires but a short time to make the installation and the necessary electric connection, and from that time on you simply forget it. Your refrigerator actually keeps it cold.

After her wonderful dinner-she told them about KELVINATED FOODS

Kelvinated foods are foods that have been kept for some time in the frosty, dry cold produced by Kelvinator electric refrigeration. In this dry, cold they undergo a remarkable change.

Meats become mellow, tender and flavorful. Green vegetables "crisp up" until they are deliciously fresh and inviting. All foods stay wholesome and appetizing.

You can prepare dainty sherbets, ices and other desserts without using ice. Or you can freeze sparkling cubes of ice, just the right size for chilling beverages.

Kelvination is refrigeration that requires no attention. Day and night—month after month—it keeps the refrigerator very cold with none of the care demanded by ice.

We can put Kelvinator in the refrigerator you are now using. Phone or call for information.
